

BLOCK 03 DESCRIPTION

Delivery platform rider's path to a ghost kitchen in a market

Description: A tortilla-only ghost kitchen is tucked away inside of the Mercado de Barceló produce market in Madrid. Food delivery riders arrive at the market and take a path up the escalators to pick up the orders from the kitchen. This photogrammetry, captured in the fall of 2022, follows that path outside and inside the market. By disregarding the formal and programmatic design of the building, the image proposes a hacked, adaptive use of an infrastructure that was built for something else.
