

0804/1510

BLOCK 01
TITLE
CÁTEDRAS
AMBULANTES

BLOCK 02 IMAGE

BLOCK 03 DESCRIPTION

The Cátedras Ambulantes (Travelling Chairs) sought to bring basic education to the rural population. Each chair consisted of a series of cars and trailers with a kitchen, a classroom, a small library as well as living quarters for the instructors. The first of these caravans, appropriately named "Francisco Franco," began its work in 1946. The kitchen car had "all the elements necessary to do its job", at least that's what the 1958 regime's propaganda newsreel said, adding:

BLOCK

04

NUMBER

"Everything is new, shiny and clean. And it perfectly solves the difficulties involved in the mobile installation. [The lessons] will enable women within their own home to achieve greater yield from their products and at the same time introduce appetizing culinary variations in both stews and pastries." Images from the magazine Revista Imágenes del NO-DO, corresponding to January 1st, 1958. RTVE Archive.

BLOCK 05 AUTHOR

BLOCK 06

RECIPE

NO-DO / RTVE TRACES OF ALMOJÁBANAS

BLOCK 07 LOCATION

[NOT FOUND]

BLOCK <https://www.rtve.es/play/>

08 videos/revista-imagenes/

LINKS catedras-ambulantes/2867240/

BLOCK 09

FOOTER

2023 © Foodscapes